In this social and political exigency the Conservative party was formed as a new means of guarding the community from the new dangers-dangers unexampled in history. The people of Virginia united heart and hand in its formation. The best and truest of men took prominent positions in its organization and proceedings. It proved a glorious success, and shielded Virginia from consequences which the public forebodings had not a whit exaggerated.

The importance of this party cannot be over-estimated, whether we consider the ex-Igency which called it forth or the services which it has rendered the State. That it is still necessary for the preservation of that public welfare which it guarded at a moment of direst peril none can deny. For its preservation we can only hope by the respect that is shown the party by the people and the readiness with which we all acquiesce in its authority. How could the community in its | tersburg on one day. A great many people early stages exist without an authority au- came over from Richmond to-day, and the thorized by the members of the community entries from your city, particularly in the and respected by them? Discord and disobedience to authority would disrupt it.

The authority of the Conservative party, constituted as it has been, is hardly less entitled to respect than is the conventional powers established by the community. Morally and socially, the same motives are at the laski, delivered an address treating almost bottom of both. To resist either would be bad faith to society, and would impair the strength of the bulwarks erected for its protection. Resistance is not less than a crime, and created a most favorable impression. and it is proper to measure the crime by the dignity of the thing resisted.

We therefore look upon the Bolters and Independents who treat the authority of the Conservative party with contempt as guilty the visiting firemen from Danville, and of a most serious offence-an offence which | Chief-Engineers Pace and Cherry, of the may well cause their fellow-citizens to distrust them and not be willing to confide to the regular semi annual inspection and pa- Time, 2:431, 2:431, 2:48. them any position of profit or honor. Give and Take.

The life of the Conservative party is the spirit of concession and harmony. Its members must give and take. All cannot be Messrs. Watt & Call for ploughs, &c. pleased by the nominations. The course of action cannot be always of the same nature-pleasing all the time the same persons. It is idle to say so. And the faction which ever cries out "ring," and "combination," and "fraud," is not excited to either of these eries by any sincere belief that there are such "combinations," and "frauds," and "rings," selves have been unable to rig up the party nuder their own sails, to embrace it within their own "ring."

" It is painful to me to hear of any discord in the Conservative party, believing as I do that the happiness and prosperity of our people are dependent on its success now and always." - General J. R. Anderson.

This should be the sentiment of every true Conservative, and no doubt is. It is only the marplots, discontents, and inconsiderate persons who are doing what will impair the union and force of the Conservative party. A victory over them will be of more value to the State than a victory over the Radicals. It will reassure Conservatives everywhere, and give the party that has saved the State more power and efficiency for good than it ever had.

In the present chaotic condition of politics there is no one proposition which can muster so many adherents as this: that the common-school funds must be kept sacred for the common schools, and that no shape or form of sectarian appropriations for school purposes shall be tolerated."

The New York Tribune has the following paragraph concerning the meeting of the Society of Surgeons of the Confederate Army in this city:

"Such a gathering of ex-Confederates as that of yesterday in Richmond is likely to do the world some service. It was a meeting of surgeons in the Confederate army and navy with the simple object of making contributions to the medical and surgical history of the war. Letter from Petersburg. [Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] PETERSBURG, October 21, 1875.

The fair te-day was a great success, and the scene upon the grounds was a very brilliant and busy one. Careful estimates place the number present at ten thousand - a larger number than has ever attended a fair in Peway of agricultural implements, are numerous. The weather was again beautiful and the temperature mild, and the vast crowd remained upon the grounds until the races were over.

At 10 c'clock there was the usual exhib ion of stock upon the race-course. At 11 o'clock General James A. Walker, of Pusolely of agriculture. The effort was an able one, and was listened to with respectful attention by several thousands of people. The General is a graceful and forcible speaker,

At 12 o'clock the Fire Brigade of Petersburg, in full uniform and with their apparatus, marched upon the grounds and passed under inspection and review around | ton, with several bands of music, arrived on the race-course. They were accompanied by Danville and Portsmonth Departments, were also in line. This, by the way, is the day of bay mare Josie, owned by Mr. Caldhouser.

Among the many distinguished visitors on the grounds to day were Senator and General Ransom, of North Carolina; Senator Johnston, of Virginia; ex-Governor Walker, and others.

Several certificates of merit were awarded to-day to Messrs. H. M. Smith & Co. and to To-morrow will be the big day in all respects, and it is anticipated that a much larger

Two o'clock was the hour fixed for the trotting race, and at that time the call was sounded and the horses brought on the track. The race was for horses that had never beaten 2:40 for a purse of five hundred dollars-the first horse to receive three hundred dollars, the second horse one hundred satisfactory exhibit of its condition; but it is and fifty dollars, and the third fifty dollars. The entries were Bradshaw's Gayo, of Lynchburg; Harvey's Top, of Danville; and but by dissatisfaction because they them- Hannan & Kelly's Belle Boyd, of Nortolk. After a second attempt the borses got away, with Gayo at the pole, Belle Boyd second, and Top outside. Just after starting the mare broke hadly, and afterward had no place in the race. Both horses trotted well his lead on the second halt mile. Boto horses broke, but were soon pulled down to their work. On the home stretch they rounded the turn in a forty-gait, and neck and-neck up the stretch clossed the score, friends may be nominated for offices some of Gayo winning in 2:421, Belle Boyd being shut out.

The second heat was very interesting, both borses getting off and keeping well together are now deeply aroused at the open resist- for the first half-mile. Gavo broke badly on ance which they oppose to the Conservative the back stretch, but on the turn came down party. The assassination cannot trammel to a square trot, but could not save himself, Top winning the heat in 2:45 awid great excitement. In this heat Gayo lost a shoe, but was shod on the track in time for the third. When the third heat was called opinion was very evenly divided as to who would be the winner. At the word they started, Top hugging the pole and trotting very fast down the first turn, and maintaining the lead throughout three-quarters of a mile. As they were round the home-stretch, Top was pulled out from the pole, and Gayo wedging himself in came thundering down the stretch, winning the heat by a half-length in 2:42.

The fourth heat Gayo took the pole and the lead, and held it. On the back stretch both horses broke, but it did not materially effect their speed or positions. The closing spent was handsome, both trotting well, considering the severe work they had performed, and crossed the score in company, Gayo winning the heat and race in 2:43. Summary: Gayo, 1, 2, 1, 1; Top, 2, 1, 2, 2; Balle Boyd, distanced.

To-morrow, Friday, the great race of the week will come off-a trotting race for horses that have never beaten 2:26. Purse, $1.000 $650 to the first, $250 to the second, and $100 to the third horse; mile heats, best toree in five.

Immediately afterwards there will be a race for a purse of $500 between four-yearold horses, mile heats, best three in five. The Conservatives of Petersburg have held mass-meetings every night this week, and have been addressed by Senators Withers. Johnston, and Ransom, and other distinguished gentlemen. [Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., October 21, 1875. The Charlottesville National Bank suspended payment Tuesday at 2 o'clock. Toe occasion of the suspension was a run on the bank of several days. The cause of this suspension bas not transpired. Nothing official is yet known as to its condition. Thousands f rumors are affoat, which arise from conjecture. The officers give out that all deposits will be paid. The most intense excitement prevailed here all day yesterday, as this occurrence has come with a crushing weight upon the busine-s interests. Many have at stake their all; and this culamity, coming so entirely unexpected, has had a most disastrous effect upon the spirits of our people. A terrible responsibility rests somewhere, even though the pecuniary interests of all immediately concerned be ultimately protected. It is sincerely to be hoped that the bank may be able to give a full, fair, and hardly probable that evil effect will be removed from the community, at least for this winter.

The Farmers and Merchants Bank is not affected by this suspension. At 101 o'clock yesterday morning a meeting of the citizens of the town was held, and resolutions passed expressive of their confidence in the Farmers and Merchants Buck. faith many deposits were made in this bank during the day. It is probable that this action will have the effect of counteracting to some extent the failure of the National, and averting a panic which might have extended
